

South Dakota

In South Dakota, the food and beverage industry contributes at least $1,713,223,000 per annum in value added to the economy, employs at least 13,938 people, and operates 117 facilities.¹

The food industry in South Dakota also relies heavily on strong access to foreign markets, as processed foods account for approximately 61.0% of total non-durable exports.²

¹Data from 2006 Annual Survey of Manufacturers or 2006 County Business Patterns conducted by the U.S. Census Bureau

² Foreign Trade Division, U.S. Census Bureau